I was an established stills photographer who decided to move across into film and television. I did this by working on the camera floor at a production company, looking after the camera equipment as well as finding logistical solutions for shooting and data storage. I also attended the GBCT's camera trainee course to reinforce my film and digital camera knowledge and learn more about on-set discipline. As an established camera trainee, the last year has been spent being asked to step up occasionally and I am now working solely as a 2AC/Loader on television drama, commercials and music promos.
