Resides in Brighton but charges local to London.

After attending the School of Audio Engineering and qualifying with a Music Production Diploma Daniel started his sound career within live theatre. Here he perpetuated his massive love of music by spending the following 8 years mixing live sound on various West End musicals to crowds of 2000 people a night. During this period Daniel worked on some of the most successful West End shows including and being part of the original BAFTA winning sound team on Billy Elliot. He made the transition to broadcast sound recording nearly 16 years ago. Daniel is chilled and relaxed and really loves working on crews both small and large and getting stuck in.
